U. S. PROTESTS OIL TAXES OF MEXICO

Mexican Oils Needed For Our Aerial Service And Navy And Big Taxes Mean Hardship

BRITAIN JOINS IN THE PROTEST

By Carl D. Groat
(By United Press)

Washington, June 25—Firm but friendly representations to Mexico against the new high taxes in the Tampico oil fields and other representations against the socalled "denaturalization" of foreign countries have been made to the Carranza government by the United States government it was learned today. Great Britain is understood to have seconded representations against the oil tax though whether Great Britain sent a note to Carranza is not known.

The note to Carranza is entirely friendly in tone but is insistent upon changes in the taxes which money men regard as the next thing to confiscation. The other representations are directed against the Carranza decision that all foreign companies organize under a Mexican charter were inconsisten. Carranza's position is known to be that oil taxes will furnish considerable money to run his government but the United States and British governments have large holdings of oil land in Mexico which furnish the navy and aerial service, and believe that justice has not been shown them. The new tax goes into effect July 1. Foreigners operating in Mexico will pay the tax under protest. This government is inclined to the belief that Carranza will make modification.

THE SEED OF RETRIBUTION

In his Flag Day address the President enumerated all the causes which impelled the nation, acting through his initiative, to enter the war against Germany. "Woe to the man or group of men," he explaimed, "that seeks to stand in our way in this day of high resolution." We sincerely hope that there is no such man or group of men. If there are, they will be dealt with according to their deserts. It is not unlikely, also, that there is some sort of retribution for the man or group of men who, knowing in advance and in detail all the shocking things which are now told freely, concealed them, insisted on keeping us out of the inevitable war, delayed and hampered our preparedness, sneered at the advocates of national defense, and postponed the "day of high resolution" until France was well-nigh exhausted and the line of first defence furnished to us by our allies was worn so thin that only the most feverish of haste and the most extravagant of expenditures will put us in position to render effective reinforcements in the war to make the world safe for democracy.

Red Cross War Fund

As the hour for the closing of the great Red Cross campaign draws nearer it becomes more evident that many substantial subscriptions are being held back until the last moment. Many of the branches of the Clearfield chapter have reported only small amounts and it is known that they are holding back for the final report.

A Woodland resident advises today that the amount subscribed out there will surprise everybody and no doubt there are many small branches that will raise the grand total up into the forty or fifty thousands for the chapter.

Clearfield borough's contribution for the sixth day of the campaign was:

Miss Vera Ogden Will Be In Charge At Driving Park

The public playgrounds will be opened in the Clearfield driving park Monday, July 2nd. The playgrounds will be open for all the children of the town and will be in charge of Miss Vera Ogden, who fitted herself for playground work by a course at Geneseo college, and is thoroughly competent for the position.

The park grounds have been put in good shape and swings and other devices for the amusement and entertainment of the little folks and it is hoped and expected the playground will be appreciated and patrionized.

No. 2.—Jesse E. Dale, DuBois; Dr. S. M. Free, DuBois; M. I. McCleight, DuBois.

No. 3.—George Good, Osceola; Jas. Minds, Ramey; Dr. Robert Jackson, Osceola Mills.

POCOHONTAS MEETING

Every member of the Degree of Pocohontas is requested to attend a meeting to be held in the Red Men's hal lon Tuesday evening, June 26th. A representative of C. E. Ward & Co. will be present with samples and it is the purpose to select costumes for the degree team.

Security League Leaders to Organize a Nation-Wide Wake Up America Campaign

Left to right, top row:—Henry J. Allen, editor Wichita Beacon, and Professor A. B. Hart, professor of history at Harvard. Second row:—Mrs. Philip N. Moore of St. Louis, president of the National Council of Women, and Arthur E. Bestor, president of the Chautauqua Institution. Third row:—S. S. Menken, chairman of executive committee of the National Security League, and Professor T. F. Moran, of Purdue University.

These members of a committe of the National Security League are hard at work on a plan to send orators over the United States to arouse the people to a better understanding of war and its needs. Final plans for the campaign will be arranged at a conference of all organizations engaged in patriotic education and a speakers training camp at Chautauqua Institution, Chautauqua, N. Y., from July 2 to July 7.

Russian Population A Seething Mass Of Unrest And Revolution

Every Man With An Idea Can Get A Following And Set Up A Convention Of His Own Ideas

By William G. Shepherd
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Petrograd, May 1.—(By Mail)—Every theory, every belief, every schism of sociology, every injustice, every problem of poverty and of affluence and of labor— is being voted on in Russia today.

Meetings by the thousands are being held. The Russian people are dividing themselves along the lines of professions and occupations and in their meetings the smallest problems are brought up. In a meeting of wash-women in Petrograd the other day, for instance, the women went so far as to discuss their social standing.

"We want an eight hour day," declared one washwoman, "We want to have time every day to visit our friends and enjoy life."

"No! No!" declared the next speaker. "What we want is more work. I want to get all the work I can do and work as long as I please. I have no friends to visit"

"That woman is wrong" declared a third, "If we haven't got any friends to visit, it's because we've never had time to make friends as other people do. What we need is more friends and more time to enjoy them."

Utter and absolute free speech exists; only this could make possible the infinty of the number of matters that are being discussed by the people of seething Russia. Folks are free to talk against each other. Only yesterday, for instance the soldiers of the 12th army at the front decided that the czar was not being guarded with sufficient care in his palace. They passed a resolution to that effect and the resolution reached Minister of War Kerensky.

"The ex-czar is giving liquor to the soldiers who are guarding him," was one of the charges.

Kerensky went to Tsarkoe Selo to look into the matter. He found that according to a long established custom at the palace, the guards were being given a bottle of wine every day. He laid the matter before the troops guarding the palace.

"Yes," they replied. "We receive a bottle of wine every day from the czar's cellars. We are only following an ancient custom—but if we are being criticized for it by the soldiers of the 12th army, we will discontinue the practice."

Wherefore, in solemn assembly, they voted to abolish a pleasant and therefore somewhat lingering custom of Tsarkoe Selo.

People in Russia vote at the drop of the hat—on any subject.

The third impression I received as an American, was a sense of bewilderment at the problem of getting this voting translated into laws.

The voting is not vague and unsystematic. Spontaneously a system has grown up out of the old organizations whereby national organizations of all sorts are developing.

A few washerwomen, for instance, or a few farmers in some extremely remot district hold a meeting and elect a delegate to a meeting of washerwomen or farmers in some nearby town. This larger meeting, in turn, elects a delegate to a convention in a still larger center and finally, delegates are chosen to represent a still larger district in the main organization which is being formed here at the capital. There is a bewildering number of such organizations, with an uncountable number of repetitions.

A man, for instance, may be a member of a soldier's organization; he may also belong to an organization of his craft and, in addition, he may vote in an organization of Ukranians, or Letts or Poles. There is no limit to the number of places in which he may express his opinion and have his votes counted.

How the government, out of all the mass of public opinion—and there's never been so much public opinion anywhere in the world as there is in Russian now—will be able to sift the preponderating causes is a bewildering problem, but it is one that the new government is determined to solve.

WILSON CALLING FOR RECRUITS THIS WEEK

Makes Appeal For 70,000 Men To Fill Ranks of the Army And National Guard

FINE CHANCE FOR ABLE MEN

A great many men who are unmarried and have no intentions of taking unto themselves a life mate have been saying that they would await a call from the President before enlisting. Here it is. The commander in chief of the U. S. A. needs several thousand men to fill up the ranks in the regular army and in the National guard. He has designated this week as a recruiting week for the regular army and calls upon all men between the ages of eighteen and forty years to enlist. This is another chance to be a "went" instead of a "sent." In addition to this there is no doubt that a great many privileges await the regular army man that will not be granted to the conscripted man. When conscription is put into effect there will be so much bustle and activity that men will necessarily have to be handled in large numbers without any consideration of personalities.

Following is the President's call for 70,000 men for the regular army.

I hereby designate the period to June thirtieth, next, as recruiting week for the regular army and call upon unmarried men between the ages of eighteen and forty years, who have no dependants and who are not engaged in pursuits vitally necessary to the prosecution of the war, to present themselves for enlistment during the week herein designated to the number of seventy thousand.

WOODROW WILSON

June 15, 1917.

Clearfiel county young men who desire to enter the army ahead of conscription can volunteer at the recruiting headquarters of Co. L, at the Court House. This will enable our young men to go out together and with a Pennsylvania organization.

All who enlist between now and June 30th will be credited to Clearfield county's quota. Be "went" boys before "sent" and join Co. L.

Enlistment Notes

Hayes Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Wilson of Sixth street, went over to Boalsburg, Saturday and enlisted in the Boal Machine Gun troop. Hayes is the fourth East End young man to enroll with Capt. Terry Boal.

Wesley W. Waple and George Tippery left on the 1:15 Pennsylvania train for New York City where they expect to enlist in the U. S. ambulance corps for service in France.

Ray Callahan, shipping clerk at the Harbison Walker brickyard who recently enlisted in the quartermaster's department of the U. S. army received his notice today to report at Syracuse, N. Y., for duty on Wednesday next.

DANCE THURSDAY NIGHT

On account of being unable to get their building in shape for tonight the Italian band postponed their dance until Thursday evening next.

The band has rented the Marino maccaroni factory, near the foot of Bigler avenue bill for a band room and dance hall but were unable to have the building remodeled in time for Monday evening's dance as had been advertised. The entire proceeds from this dance when held will be turned over to the local Red Cross fund.

ATTENDING STATE COLLEGE

Misses Emma McDowell, Lida Stage, Rhoda Weaver, Lucille McGee and Augusta Connelly left this morning for State College where they will take the Teacher's Training course the coming summer. Dorr Barto, another Clearfield teacher, will also take this course.

John McGraw says he gets twice as much salary for managing one team as President Tener receives for running the whole league. John merely wanted to show that he can afford to bust umpires on the beak and settle.

Flag Raising at Rock Farm Sunday Morning

Clearfield Military Company Assists In Pretty Ceremony

The flag raising at the Ord L. Norris farm in Pike township yesterday was a huge success in every sense of the word and the large crowd present enjoyed the occasion immensely.

The Junior military company which is camping at the Norris farm and Clearfield's Independent Military company participated in the flag raising exercises. The Independents went to Curwensville on the Saturday evening B. R. & P. train and hiked out to the farm and s...t the night in Mr. Norris' barn.

They returned home yesterday afternoon much pleased with their outing and the reception given them by Mr. and Mrs. Norris.

The flag was presented by Mrs. Ord L. Norris and was accepted on behalf of the military company by Captain Frederick L. Prosser. Prayer and a spirited patriotic address was made by Rev. J. Max Lantz, of Curwensville. The flag was raised by Clayton and Jack, sons of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Norris, of Clearfield.

The following were present from Clearfield: Mrs. S. Young, Anna M. Irwin, Mrs. W. P. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Leitzinger, Mary H. Leitzinger, John and A. E. Leitzinger, Jr., Mrs. M. E. Johnson, Helen H. Houston, Elva Walker, Mrs. James Evans, Mrs. A. P Walker, Mrs. John McCorkle, Miss Dorothy McCorkle, E. H. Shaw, George Kittleberger, Fred Lang, A. P. Walker, A. E. Fleck, W. E. Bock, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cross, Edna Johnson, Clarence Watson, Misses Margaret, Anne, Julia, Catherine, Louise and Master Andy Waterworth, Jean Norris, Alice Norris, Mr. Rich, Mr. Irwin, Clyde Walker, S. J. Waterworth, W. I. Betts and family, Mrs. Mina S. Bell, Misses Esther and Arvilla Bell, Miss Ruth Cross, John McCorkle, Jonathan Meyer, W. W. Waple W. P. Norris, Miss Julia Bell, Mrs. T. J. Norris, Fred B. Kerr and family, A. M. Liveright and family.

Those present from Curwensville were Pearl Mumma, Mrs. James Cassidy, Mae E. Shively, Rev. and Mrs. J. Max Lantz, Michael Durandetta, Pearl Durandetta, Clay Thurston, Walter Fullerton, Raymond Walker, Howard Odell, Wm. H. Thompson, C. O. Norris, J. L. Smith, A. H. Irwin, Mrs. Helen Huston, H. L. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Way, Ruder K., Betty, and Billy Way, Irene Brownlee, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Dyer, Mrs. Wm. R. Mumma, John H. Norris.

Other out of town guests were Miss Clara Leonard, DuBois; W. J. Camper, Roanoke, Va.; and J. H. Hubbard, of Clymer, Pa.

McADOO PRAISES SACRIFICE OF NEWSPAPERS

The Liberty Loan campaign was essentially one of education, and without the generous and patriotic support of the press of the Nation the hope of those in charge that it would be a popular loan would not have been realized. The untiring efforts of the newspapers throughout the campaign was a constant inspiration to the various other groups of workers. At a time when news space was at a premium the Liberty Loan was featured at length.

Newspapers and magazines, in their news, editorial, and advertising columns, fought for the success of the loan every step of the way.

RESIGNS POSITION AS MINE INSPECTOR

J. C Gatehouse, of Beccaria, who held the position of Mine Inspector, with headquarters at Johnstown, and who only a month ago was appointed to the position, resigned the job on account of his extensive coal business. The position required absence from home too considerably, as he is a large shipper of bituminous coal, and his attention was required at home to look after the prompt shipment of extensive orders.

WHOLESALE HEARINGS CONTINUED

The hearing on the petition of the Clearfield County Dry Federation for a revocation of all the wholesale liquor licenses in Clearfield county which it was expected would be heard this morning was continued by Judge Bell to Monday, July 2nd.

An excellent supper was served to sixty two guests and members.

Music for the dancers was furnished in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Binder of Madera, were in Clearfield on business today.

FOOD DICTATO STARTING ON BIG JOB

Appeals To Pulpit And Press To Help Eliminate Waste And Assist In Saving Campaign

SUNDAY IS "FOOD SAVING DAY"

Our Food Dictator is getting on the job. The following letter to the editors of the nation explains his plans for laying the importance of food saving before all the people and that he is taking it up with all churches and newspapers means that his preachments are going to reach all the people in the nation. The Progress is unable to hear of any local arrangements for next Sunday but presume that all ministers will take some effort to assist in this great work.

"I write to ask your special co-operation in an important phase of the work of conserving food for ourselves and our Allies. The plan I now have in mind is designed primarily to reach the church people and the women, but with help of the press it can be made to cover the whole community.

Under date of June 18, there will be mailed to every minister whose name I can secure a personal letter over my signature asking him to preach upon the subject of Food Conservation on Sunday, July first. In the same letter, I shall express the hope that this day will become known as "Food Saving Day," and that it may be made the purpose and motto of every householder in America, to Save the Waste and Win the War.

May I have your assistance along the following lines; First, on Monday, June 25 (but not before) and on succeeding days, to announce in your paper the general plan for Food Saving Day, with whatever local arrangements for observing it may be decided upon, and to support it editorially.

Second, on Monday, July 2 (but not before) and on succeeding days, to carry in display type a motto "Save the Waste and Win the War," to print also notes or abstracts of sermons preached on July 1, and most important of all, to drive home the lessons of food conservation by your own editorial comment.

I should be especially grateful if your influence and that of your paper could be used to enlist civic, fraternal, patriotic, and other organizations in the effort to make Food Saving Day really effective in conserving the food supply for us and for our Allies, and in reducing the cost of living to our own people."

Yours faithfully,
HERBERT HOOVER

ENTERTAINS LITTLE FRIENDS

Miss Nathalia Orcutt entertained a number of her little friends Saturday afternoon in honor of her eleventh birthday by taking them to the Chief Theatre.

After the girls had seen the pictures which they all thought were about the best they had ever seen, their little hostess took them to McCarty's where they all enjoyed dainty refreshments, after which they all left for their homes, wishing Nathalia many more happy birthdays.

The party included Ruth Cross, Glenore Hays, Winifred Dowler, Margaret Shapiro, Audrey Hyde, Catherine Yeaney and Jane Wallace.

WOMAN'S CLUB PICNIC

The Woman's Club will hold their annual picnic Friday afternoon, June 29, at the Driving Park where supper will be served at six o'clock by the West Side Ladies' Aid Society. The following menu has been submitted for the sum of 65 cents; meat loaf, cold slaw, scalloped potatoes, bread and butter sandwiches, ice cream, cake and coffee. As it is necessary to know for how many to prepare everyone who expects to attend is asked to notify Mrs. E. E. Orcutt Mrs. H. Clark Thayer or Miss Isabel Powell not later than Wednesday noon. NO "WOODIES"

There has been and there still is some discussion as to what we should term our soldiers in France by way of affectionate nickname. Something like the English "Tommy" is sought, and "Sammies," and "Teddies" have been nominated. No one has yet risen to suggest in seriousness that they should be called "Woodies." They are not too proud to fight, you see.

NIPPONESE SOY OIL

A dispatch from Seattle, Wash., announces the departure from that city of 40 tank cars each containing 8000 gallons of soy bean oil, consigned to Ivorydale, Ohio, to be used in soap making. The oil was imported by Mitsui & Co., Japanese importers of Seattle, and a subsidiary of Mitsui & Co., of Tokio, Japan. Soy beans and soy bean oil are on the free list of the present tariff law.

With a protective rate on the beans and the oil, the growing of the former would be encouraged in this country and the southern cotton-seed oil mills would have plenty of work to do during an otherwise dull period. A protective rate on the oil would insure a good home market for these mills, and a product whose possibilities are being appreciated would be "Made in America."

TOO MUCH TALK

There may be two sides to the controversy betweeen Gen. Goethals and the men whom Chairman Denman chose to work on the plan for a merchant fleet. But the public will see only one side of it. They know Goethals. They do not know Eustis and Clark—and they are only just coming to know Denman. Goethals is a man who does things. Denman and Eustis and Clark are men who evidently prefer to talk about doing things. There are too many like them in places of responsibility at Washington already. The administration cannot afford to have this issue accentuated. There is a growing belief in the country now that things are not as they should be in Washington. The Goethals incident will strengthen this opinion.

LET EVERYONE KICK IN

Representative Aaron S. Kreider, of Pennsylvania, believes that every man in the country should pay an income tax proportioned to his circumstances so that each may realize that he is helping support the Government in the prosecution of the war, and thereby to awaken his patriotism. "I would indicate to every man," declares Mr. Kreider, "Whether he is handling a pick and shovel or is president of a bank, that he is considered by this Congress an American citizen." It is not so much the amount that the poorer classes will contribute, but the feeling that it will engender with them that the Government is depending upon their assistance. Congressman Kreider contends that the result would be the wiping out of classes and the welding together of the interests of all the people, which we must have if we are going to win the war.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— KARL KATZ WOKE UP

[Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales.]

THE children were so eager for their story that they clapped and clapped for daddy to begin. "When Karl Katz woke up after he had fallen fast asleep in a dwarf's cave he found himself in a different spot from the one he had fallen to sleep in.

"It is very hard work, back aching, in fact, to pick up nine pins when twelve dwarfs knock them down. And it is no wonder that Karl Katz had slept fast and hard. When he called his dog and it did not answer he looked around for the doorway through which he had gone to follow his pet goat.

"Much to his surprise, he could find no trace of the door in the old walls of the tumble down castle where he had herded his goats. There stood the wall, but without chink or crack big enough to let a rat through. Again Karl Katz paused and scratched his head. His hat was full of holes! 'That was a new hat last Easter time!' he exclaimed.

"By chance his eyes fell on his boots, which were almost new when he had left home to herd his flock. Now they looked old, as if they were likely to fall to pieces if he walked far in them. In fact, all his clothes seemed to be in a shabby state.

"The more Karl looked around and pondered what had happened the more astonished he became. He could not make out what had happened!"

"What had?" asked Evelyn.

"It was so funny trying to understand what had happened that he decided to leave the old castle yard and go out to find his flock. Slowly and much out of the mood he wound his way among the mountain steeps, through paths where his flocks were accustomed to feed. He found the same old paths, but not a goat was in sight! Again Karl stopped and whistled and called his dog. But no dog answered. Where was his faithful helper who used to run up joyfully and bark with glee at driving the flock?

"Below him in the valley lay the village where his home was. So after waiting for his flock for hours Karl at last took a downyard path and with a heavy heart and faltering step set out in search of his goats. 'Surely,' he kept saying over and over again to himself, 'I shall meet some neighbor soon who will be able to tell me where to find my flock.'

"But stranger and stranger, all the folks he met on his way to the village were all unknown to Karl Katz," daddy finished.

"He was just like Rip Van Winkle, wasn't he, daddy?" cried Jack.

And daddy smiled and sent him off to bed.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder bothers

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night; when you have sever headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a deilghtful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

Greece has a total area about equal to that of the State of West Virginia.

THAT MEN MIGHT LIVE

We give our money freely
To slay, since we must slay.
Shall we not give that men may live
To greet the better day?
Lo! there are hands not steely
That mend the broken clay.

We spend for deeds of choler;
For killing lord or clerk.
With ne'er an end our gold we spend
To spread the powder-murk.
Shall not the golden dollar
Go crown sweet Mercy's work?

We send a million rifles,
And oh! they find their slain!
Shall we not show a gorid aglow
That Christ is more than Cain,
And Mercy's hand still stifles
The soldier's cry of pain?

We make the cannon shipment,
New fields of fire to ope.
We speed the flame, the swords that maim,
The shells that sow the slope.
Why not the white equipment
That bears the Cross of Hope?

In all our ammunition
There lies the groan and curse.
But now shall go, since God wills so,
The ambulance, not hearse;
The succoring physician;
The gentle-fingered nurse.

Your share of cost of slaughter
You, as a patriot, give.
You're paying high that men may die
And Love be fugitive.
Come! Send across the water
The ones who bid men live!

Mr. A. M. Graham, Daisy Street, Clearfield, Tells of His Experience With Goldine

This well known and popular man tells of an experience he had with Goldine, this new treatment now being introduced here. He says: "For over five years I suffered from catarrh of the head and throat, and was very nervous. I could not sleep at night and would often get up and then go back again. I tried a good many things and made every effort to get relief but nothing did me any good. I heard of Goldine and was induced to try it. I started in to use it and was entirely relieved of my catarrh. I have had not further trouble from catarrh or my head or throat since. It did me great good and I gladly recommend it to any one who is in need of a good medicine for catarrh and nerves."

THE GOLDINE MAN

This testimonial proves beyond a doubt that Goldine is a remarkable remedy for catarrh.

"Goldine, the Marvel Medicine," is made from roots, herbs, barks and berries and is as pure as nature and scientific chemistry can make it. The testimonials we publish are from your own townspeople, people that are trustworthy and whose word you know is good. Such statements should be enough for anyone. The Goldine Man will tell you honestly what Goldine has done for others, with troubles similar to yours. They do no diagnose, prescribe or advise but they tell you the nature of the Goldine Remedies, what they have done and are doing and then you can judge for yourself about trying them. Five minutes of your time will be well spent in calling and talking with these men and you will receive courteous treatment and kindly interest.

"The New York Central track is really perfect" —JOSEPH CARLIER, Assistant Professor of Railways, Liege University, Belgium.

Professor Carlier was recently in this country making an official study of American railways as a model for Belgium.

In an interview in the New York Times he made the statements reproduced herewith concerning the New York Central Lines.

But a railroad, however perfect to-day, will be inadequate to perform its functions to-morrow without constant heavy expenditures of new capital.

Rising prices for fuel, labor, materials and equipment make it imperative that the public and governmental authorities afford fair treatment, and permit compensating rates, in order that it may maintain that stability of credit which is necessary to attract new capital in competition with world-wide international borrowing.

"My trip on the New York Central was made in a splendid new electric locomotive of 2,000 horse power. I have visited many railroad shops in England and have seen many electrifications. I found the working of the New York Central electrification really wonderful. The stability of the locomotive, the working of the engine—I was quite surprised. It was really splendid. I cannot say too much for the motion, in a word, I did not feel any disturbance which would indicate a fault in the track or a wrong conception in the locomotive. The maintenance of the track for the section traveled by me is really perfect, as compared with similar tracks on European railroads. It is not necessary to speak of the terminal. It is a work of genius. It is the only work in the world of its kind. Every one knows that. Is it not so?"

Letters to the Editor

Manhattan, Kansas
Jnue 21, 1917

Editor of Progress
Clearfield, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I thought a few lines from me might be of interest to your readers. We arrived at Manhattan, in the Sunflower state early Saturday morning, June 16th. Found the weather fine and crops looking splendid.

On Tuesday we visited Ft. Riley, Kansas, where the national government has a reservation of 21,000 acres. Ft. Riley is the geographical center of the United States and has a tower marking it as such.

There are now about 5,000 troops here in training and an army of men putting the reservation in shape for the training and housing of 100,000 soldiers and 30,000 horses which are expected to be here before September. There is wonderful activity about the camp. Long rows of wooden buildings are going up as by magic, as well as hundreds of canvass tents. It is a very inspiring sight to one who is not accustomed to army life.

Yesterday I went over to Topeka to visit my old friend Frank Smith and family, and was entertained royally. They live in a beautiful section of the city, and from all appearances are making good. Mr. Smith took up out in his car; over the district recently visited by that terrible cyclone. This is the third cyclone district I have been permitted to see in a few days and neither tongue nor pen can describe the destruction of the forces of nature by these storms. I can simply say that like the wonders of King Solomon, the half cannot be told, but must be seen to be realized. I receive The Progress daily which is like getting a letter from home, for which I wish to return my thanks.

Yours truly,
PETER GEARHART

P. S. I don't want to miss my right to the Red Cross fund and if The Progress will report $5.00 for me I will give check when I get home.

DECORATED BUT CAN'T TELL WHY

London, June 10—By Mail—Commander Gordon Campbell, mysterious hero of the British navy, leaped 700 junior naval officers in promotion, because a member of the Distinguished Service Order and was decorated with the Victoria Cross in less than a year and a half. Yet, with a storm raging around his secret career, he is bound by naval ethics not to tell publicly how he won either his promotion or the high honors bestowed by King George.

Curiosity started mildly, but when Campbell and the Admiralty remained silent, the demand for information reached the proportion of a public uproar. Campbell is not criticized, exactly; the public really wants a chance to sing his praises. The music is ready but English hero worshippers refuse to sing a song without words, which makes the present demonstration a clamor instead of a popular laudation.

A high official of the admiralty today assured the United States that Campbell's achievements and bravery during the war deserve every ray of honor turned upon him. When the war is over the people may know what he did and how he did it, but for the time being his deeds must remain behind the veil.

Just recently his name appeared in the court circular as the recipient of the Victoria Cross, highest of all honors for sheer bravery, so Campbell must have found something more exciting than the command of the Bittern.

The Dodgers have everything in the way of a 1916 championship team, and no reason why they shouldn't repeat once they get to the top and stick there.

Baker and Pipp of the Yankees are sweet home-run getters, but the fans don't believe it unless they smash out a circuit drive every time they come to bat.

Perhaps the white sox traveling uniforms, of brownish gray with black stripes, are responsible for the Rowland's success. One flash at the togs and the opposition loses heart for pastiming.

President William T Noonan of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Railway, has issued a letter to all officers and employees advising the most the results of the campaign for subscriptions to the Liberty Loan on that road and expressing his appreciation of their response.

Three thousand three hundred and ninety subscriptions, totaling $375,650 were received from the officers and employees advising them of the ter & Pittsburg Railway in all branches of the service.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

GOVERNMENT WILL COMMANDEER OIL AND COAL

Washington, June 23.—Declaring that it is a "question of a very short time until the government is compelled to commandeer the oil and coal in the country," Secretary Daniels today told the Senate Public Lands committee that the oil situation is critical. Daniels said that if no commandeering negotiations be entered into at once the fuel supply must re regulated and the government must fix prices for the oil and coal.

WOULD FIGHT AGAINST HIS FATHERLAND

Detroit, June 25.—Johann Wilhelm, nephew of the Kaiser, would take up the gun against Germany—if the age limit of selective service were raised to include him.

Count von Hohenzollern is his title. He was born in Detroit and has been here for the last seven years.

The count's identity was disclosed when he applied to Marshall Behrondt for permission to enter districts restricted to Germans.

While he spent the greater part of his forty-seven years in Germany Johann was born here while his parents were touring the United States. His father is a brother of Bill Hohenzollern.

It might be possible to knock him out wtih a pop bottle or a stick of dynamite, but it's a good bet that the pastimer who slams Umpire Billy Evans in the mush will have started something awful.

The Browns have had more hitters among the first dozen batsmen than any other American league team, but it hasn't helped the Jones' to break into real society.

If the Tigers can continue to produce the same brand of ball at home that they have furnished on the road, the Detroit crowd is going to prove troublesome before the end of the big show.

TODAY'S WAR RECIPE

From Britain's Official Win-The-War Cook-Book

Barley Broth—Two tablespoonsful of pearly barley, one tablespoonful of margarine, one teaspoonful of salt, pepper to taste, three pints of bone or vegetable stock, one dessertspoonful of flour one egg. Melt the fat in saucepan, stir in the flour smoothly, add the barley, first soaked in cold water for five or six hours, and cook together over a moderate fire for a minute, stirring all the time Add the stock, (previsly slightly warmed) by degrees, still stirring, and bring gradually to the boil. Simmer for fifty minutes, thenadd seasoning to taste. Beat up the egg, put it into a warmed tureen, pour in the soup, and stir well.

PLEASURE CAR MOTOR SETS NEW RECORDS

Haynes Light Twelve Engine Which Won 100 Mile Chicago Classic was Taken from Branch Managers' Car

Chicago, Jnue 23—The Haynes "Light Twelve" which set the new amateur record for 100 miles at the Chicago auto derby Saturday, June 16, and made a new non-stop record, had under its hood the engine which H. E. Doty, Chicago branch manager for the Haynes, has been using in his pleasure car the past winter.

Mr. Doty never expected his engine to win such signal fame. It has the reguarl stock valves and stock displacement. He had driven it over 3,000 miles for personal pleasure. Not having time, prior to the race, to limber up the engine sent from the factory, it was at the last moment decided to use Mr. Doty's stock engine instead.

PAIGE
The Most Beautiful Car in America

Paige Prices Will Be Advanced on July 15

On July 15th the list price of every car in the Paige line will be very substantially increased—with no change whatsoever in our models.

In order to maintain the well-known standards of Paige quality, such a step is uavoidable. The market quotations of all raw materials, accessories and labor have steadily advanced—some commodities to the extent of 300 per cent.

Inasmuch as we insist upon using only the best of materials, we are left with but one alternative—an increased list price to absorb increased manufacturing cost.

As a matter of economic fact, the price of our cars should have been advanced several months ago. We have chosen to delay this action, however, until the last possible moment.

But even though Paige prices are to be substantially increased, you can rest assured that our cars will continue to offer more actual dollar for dollar value than any other cars on the American market. From a purely comparative standpoint Paige cars have always been under-priced—and they will remain so no matter how far the commodity prices may advance.

Owing to the scarcity of materials, our production between now and July 15th will necessarily be limited. We have apportioned this production to Paige dealers throughout the country, and they will accept orders until their individual allotments are exhausted.

As a last thought in regard to this matter of price, please remember that the Paige has long since demonstrated its independence of all "price fields." American men and women now buy a Paige—not because of the price tag which is attached to it—but because of its well established reputation as a fine mechanical product.

On this basis the Paige will always represent a preferred investment. Its actual cost in dollars and cents will always be an important, but an altogether secondary, consideration.

MUSHROOM TIPS

(By United Press)

Washington, June 25.—Inexpert persons who insist on collecting "mushrooms" and afterward die of regret—and poison—on learning they picked the poisonous kind are warned by the department of agriculture that there is no simple test for distinguishing the eatable from the other.

For example, the common belief that any mushroom may be eaten with safety if the skin can be peeled readily from the cap is unfounded. The same peeling is possible with many poisonous species.

The presence of insects on mushrooms, too, is no proof that they are safe for human consumption. The common belief that if mushrooms are soaked or boiled in salt water they will do no harm, also is a dangerous and unfounded supposition.

After all, that miracle stuff seems to have been just another Boston fad and now thrown into the discard after a short lived popularity.

LEMONS BRING OUT THE HIDDEN BEAUTY

Make this lotion for very little cost and just see for yourself.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one generally pays for a small par of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply the ounces of orchard white at very cost and the grocer has the

Yeggmen Blow Safe At Grampian Station

Got Away With $60 In Money And Other Property

A gang of yeggmen descended on the village of Grampian last evening and after robbing several barns and outbuildings of blankets and other wearing apparel visited the Pennsylvania passenger station and blowing open the safe escaped with some $60 in cash.

The safe-blowers were evidently experts in their line and made a clean get away of their job making not a single sound to disturb the slumbers of the bucolic citizens of that quiet little village.

Turic Remanded To Jail For Sept. Court

Refused to Tell Complete Story Of Alleged Treasonable Talk

Gust Turic, the young man who was arrested at Winburne a few days ago for defaming by word of mouth the President of the United States, the flag and the nation in general was before the court this morning for a hearing. The young man is of German parentage but was born in this country. He was given an excellent chance to prove himself worthy of clemency but either thought he could bunco the court or desired to remain a true blue son of the Kaiser.

Before hearing his part of the story the District Attorney expressed the belief that the young man had simply fell a victim to his temper under the goad of taunts and said he believed he should be given a chance to prove himself a good citizen. The court however, preferred to be further enlightened and requested Turic to tell his side of the story, repeatedly asking that he give in detail just what conversation took place at the time he is alleged to hav emade the seditious remarks. Turic fenced at every question, denied having said practically everything attributed to him and finally the court very properly remanded him to the county jail to await trial at the September term of court.

The court very emphatically laid down his opinion on a man's duty at this time. Turic admitted that neither he nor any member of his large immediate family had bought a Liberty bond, that they had given nothing to the Red Cross and done no other thing to advance the interest of the United States in the present conflict. He said that he would bear arms and fight if compelled to do so but not before. At this point the court interjected with the statement that this was not enough; that a man's duty was to do all he could willingly and without compulsion or attendant with treasonable talk.

Worthy of note is the statement that Turic had some whiskey to drink before the alleged conversation took place. Those who long have argued that liquor plays its part in seditious and treasonable talk will be quick to see it in this case. While it is not thought that Turic had been drinking enough to make him irresponsible, the very fact that he had been drinking a little will serve to cloud the issue in the minds of many people. Some may argue that his drinking has nothing to do with the case at all but the fact that the question was put to him at the hearing indicates that it is a consideration.

Mammoth Wyoming Dam Gives 'Way

Five Small Towns And Thousands Of Crop Acres Are Menaced

Salt Lake City, June 26.—The dam in the Mammoth Reservoir, 12 miles west of Fairview, Utah has given way under strain of the 11,000 feet of water which is flooding the valley below, according to reports received by officials of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad Company here.

Five small towns as well as one branch of the Rio Grande railroad, the out let of the Carbon coal fields, are menaced. Several additional valley farms irrigated by the Price River Irrigation Company are in danger of inundation with incalculable damage to the crops. Telephone warnings to the residents will save a great many people in the danger zone.

CATCHER JIM ARCHER TAKES THROW ON THE FINGER TIPS

Veteran of Chicago Cubs Has Method of Saving Hand Different From Most Backstops.

With a catcher the most important thing is to keep his hands in condition. Since the backstop handles nearly every ball that is thrown and the ball that he has to receive is thrown with more speed than to any other player, the constant pounding in the center of the big mitt is not by any means inconsiderable.

At the center, where the ball lands there is but little padding and the hand is likely to be put out of commission in a short time unless more than ordinary care is taken of it. In the big show the methods are many, but Jimmy Archer, catcher of the Chicago Nationals, seems to have them all beaten.

In the springtime most catchers are troubled with stone bruises on their receiving hands because of the tenderness of the flesh after a winter of idleness. Archer, when he began catching, found a scheme to avoid bruises of that nature, but never revealed his method to his teammates because he thought they had systems of their own. Not long ago, however, he acquired a stone bruise, and it is the first one he has had in years, and it was due mostly to an accident.

Jim Archer.

While watching batting practice he was hit on the fingers with a foul tip. To avoid hurting his digits more he stuck his hand deep into his mitt and caught the ball in the palm of his hand. This was contrary to his method.

As he has only an extremely thin padding on his glove the bruise resulted.

When his hand is well he does not insert it into the mitt more than half way and catches the ball practically on his finger tips, thus avoids possibility of getting a stone bruise, which is a source of much annoyance to catchers.

Other catchers have their own methods to avoid a contusion on the right hand from the constant impact of the ball into the glove. At the opening of the spring training period some catchers have large pieces of raw beefsteak which they place in the palms of their hands for a week or more and their skin becomes hardened and is able to stand the force of the globule. Some use a small cork pad, and others pieces of chamois, and many keep them in use all summer long.

Poultry Pointers.

Keep the chicks busy.

Make the fowls hustle.

Check the first symptoms of a cold.

Old lime mortar is good for poultry and pigeons.

Variety of foods sharpen the appetite of fowls.

It never pays to feed wet or sloppy foods to your fowls or chicks.

Too much or too little food at a time is to be avoided.

A little perseverance along the lines of feeding poultry will help the digestion in the end.

Cull out every fowl for which you have no use.

Remember that regularity and persistence in caring for your fowls is a principal feature of success.

Table scraps and kitchen waste are excellent foods for all kinds of poultry.

Always have a pan, or a clean, dry board to throw soft food on for the chickens, as it saves waste and is more healthful to the fowls.

The management of growing chicks is an art pure and simple—and it is a matter of regret that all poultry raisers are not artists in this line.

Cost of Dyes Before the War.

The dyes used on this side of the water cost the consumers between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 in normal times This sum, says the Engineering Magazine, does not measure the total value of the industry, because in addition to the dyes produced there are many drugs and chemicals obtained as by-products of the manufacture which swell the total to probably $50,000,000 annually.

Clark Griffith recently confessed that he originated the emory ball during his pitching days, some twenty years ago Little by little the past life of the Old Fox is coming to light

As no U-boats have been discovered in the Naumee river, it must have been a flock of A. A. tanks that struck Roger Bresnahan's Toledo Hens.

Old Memories.

A quaint little pathway that twisted and turned
And passed from our sight at the mill,
Then wandered away where the wild flowers burned
Their gold in the slope of the hill.
How silent it led, with the alders above,
Till splashed by the sun streaming through,
It ended its way on the threshold of love,
Of an old fashioned cottage we knew.

Each flower that bloomed 'round the lattice way there
Came down from the gardens above—
Each new opened blossom gave out on the air
Fresh tokens of tenderest love—
Each sigh in the trees of the breeze passing through,
Each call of a bird for its mate.
Befitted this old-fashioned cottage we knew
And the old-fashioned folk at the gate.

The gourd at the wall, the bucket and sweep,
The something that whispered of home.
The warmth of the welcome they treasure and keep
To greet a son given to roam;
Aye, each little thing, each joy and care
That passes in distant review;
May we find the old-fashioned cottages there
And the old-fashioned couples we knew.

Mother's Cook Book

Reduce the cost of living by utilizing all leftovers and having meatless dinners at least three times a week.

Summer Dishes.

Delicious as the cucumber is to the palate it has little nourishment. Its value lies in its mineral salts, cellulose and the cooling properties of its water content. The salad dressing or sauce with which the vegetable is served does make it a nourishing dish. The bitter principle even when not pronounced is especially good for the complexion taken inside or out. Cucumbers peeled and cut in half lengthwise are boiled and served with butter as a vegetable. After being parboiled they may be dipped in egg and crumbs and fried. They are also well liked as fritters and stewed with a cream sauce is another favorite method.

Cucumber Sauce for Fish.

The favorite method of serving cucumbers is to keep the delicate crispness which is so refreshing on a hot day. Cucumber chopped fine and mixed with half as much chopped onion, seasoned well with salt, pepper and vinegar, makes a fine sauce to serve with fish.

Tomato Ice.

Take the pulp and juice of a quart of tomatoes, rubbed through a sieve to remove the skin and seeds, add the juice of three lemons, sugar to sweeten and a cupful of finely chopped candied ginger. Add a quart of boiled water and a half-cupful of chopped maraschino cherries, and freeze.

Hot Stuffed Tomatoes.

Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add a half-cupful of bread crumbs and enough stock to moisten the bread. Stir over the fire until a paste is formed, then add three tablespoonfuls of chopped chicken, a tablespoonful of chopped ham, grated onion, celery salt and pepper to taste. Cut round pieces from the tops of firm, even-sized tomatoes, remove the centers and turn on a plate to drain. Fill with the mixture and put into a buttered pan to bake. A few minutes before taking from the oven cover each with a little white of egg beaten stiff, then when brown, serve at once.

Cheese and Olives.

Beat two tablespoonfuls of sweet cream into one cream cheese or the equivalent of cottage cheese, add salt and paprika to make it pink and a tablespoonful of chopped chives. Roll and chill and serve on head lettuce or cress with French dressing.

How Many Deaf Mutes "Hear" And Are Thrilled by Music

Deaf mutes love music. It thrills them. They feel it by placing their hands and elbows on a piano while the teacher plays it. The vibrations not only give sensations which enliven the body, but they actually stimulate them. The parts most sensitive to vibrations are the chest, head, lungs and feet. "An exciting feeling comes up through the floor," is the way one deaf boy describes it, according to the Popular Science Monthly. "Without music I would be lonesome," wrote a little Italian deaf mute. "It gives me a strong shock through the feet to the head," stated another. Others when asked to explain their sensations, said: "I feel it in my temples and in my legs," "I feel it through my body," and "I feel it in my chest and lungs."

According to teachers of deaf mutes, musical instruction is more important as an educational factor for the deaf child than it is for the hearing.

Truthful Letter-Writing.

John Bright showed a strict regard for accuracy when he ended a controversial letter "I am, sir, with whatever respect is due to you." On the other hand the admiralty used to make a habitual display of insincerity, all letters from the lords commissioners to naval officers—even letters of reproof—being signed "Your affectionate friends." This practice was discontinued in consequence of a naval captain signing one of his letters to the board of admiralty "Your affectionate friend." He was asked to discontinue this practice, so when writing again he concluded, "I am, my lords, no longer your affectionate friend." — London Chronicle.

Probably the Prettiest Wash Goods You Can Buy Are These Ginghams at 25c the Yard

The prettiest of cotton dresses in Clearfield this Summer will be of these very ginghams. The ginghams are very good qualities, combining sheerness and strength. The designs—dainty and neat checks, stripes and novelty ideas. White linen is becoming extremely popular for trimming cotton dresses; so you see how easily and cheaply a dress can be made at home when the gingham costs only 25c a yard.

Other pretty ginghams at 12½c to 35c.

U. S. PROTESTS OIL TAXES OF MEXICO

Mexican Oils Needed For Our Aerial Service And Navy And Big Taxes Mean Hardship

BRITAIN JOINS IN THE PROTEST

By Carl D. Groat
(By United Press)

Washington, June 25—Firm but friendly representations to Mexico against the new high taxes in the Tampico oil fields and other representations against the socalled "denaturalization" of foreign countries have been made to the Carranza government by the United States government it was learned today. Great Britain is understood to have seconded representations against the oil tax though whether Great Britain sent a note to Carranza is not known.

The note to Carranza is entirely friendly in tone but is insistent upon changes in the taxes which money men regard as the next thing to confiscation. The other representations are directed against the Carranza decision that all foreign companies organize under a Mexican charter were inconsisten. Carranza's position is known to be that oil taxes will furnish considerable money to run his government but the United States and British governments have large holdings of oil land in Mexico which furnish the navy and aerial service, and believe that justice has not been shown them. The new tax goes into effect July 1. Foreigners operating in Mexico will pay the tax under protest. This government is inclined to the belief that Carranza will make modification.

THE SEED OF RETRIBUTION

In his Flag Day address the President enumerated all the causes which impelled the nation, acting through his initiative, to enter the war against Germany. "Woe to the man or group of men," he explaimed, "that seeks to stand in our way in this day of high resolution." We sincerely hope that there is no such man or group of men. If there are, they will be dealt with according to their deserts. It is not unlikely, also, that there is some sort of retribution for the man or group of men who, knowing in advance and in detail all the shocking things which are now told freely, concealed them, insisted on keeping us out of the inevitable war, delayed and hampered our preparedness, sneered at the advocates of national defense, and postponed the "day of high resolution" until France was well-nigh exhausted and the line of first defence furnished to us by our allies was worn so thin that only the most feverish of haste and the most extravagant of expenditures will put us in position to render effective reinforcements in the war to make the world safe for democracy.

Red Cross War Fund

As the hour for the closing of the great Red Cross campaign draws nearer it becomes more evident that many substantial subscriptions are being held back until the last moment. Many of the branches of the Clearfield chapter have reported only small amounts and it is known that they are holding back for the final report.

A Woodland resident advises today that the amount subscribed out there will surprise everybody and no doubt there are many small branches that will raise the grand total up into the forty or fifty thousands for the chapter.

Russian Population A Seething Mass Of Unrest And Revolution

Every Man With An Idea Can Get A Following And Set Up A Convention Of His Own Ideas

By William G. Shepherd
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Petrograd, May 1.—(By Mail)—Every theory, every belief, every schism of sociology, every injustice, every problem of poverty and of affluence and of labor— is being voted on in Russia today.

Meetings by the thousands are being held. The Russian people are dividing themselves along the lines of professions and occupations and in their meetings the smallest problems are brought up. In a meeting of wash-women in Petrograd the other day, for instance, the women went so far as to discuss their social standing.

"We want an eight hour day," declared one washwoman, "We want to have time every day to visit our friends and enjoy life."

"No! No!" declared the next speaker. "What we want is more work. I want to get all the work I can do and work as long as I please. I have no friends to visit"

"That woman is wrong" declared a third, "If we haven't got any friends to visit, it's because we've never had time to make friends as other people do. What we need is more friends and more time to enjoy them."

Utter and absolute free speech exists; only this could make possible the infinty of the number of matters that are being discussed by the people of seething Russia. Folks are free to talk against each other. Only yesterday, for instance the soldiers of the 12th army at the front decided that the czar was not being guarded with sufficient care in his palace. They passed a resolution to that effect and the resolution reached Minister of War Kerensky.

"The ex-czar is giving liquor to the soldiers who are guarding him," was one of the charges.

Kerensky went to Tsarkoe Selo to look into the matter. He found that according to a long established custom at the palace, the guards were being given a bottle of wine every day. He laid the matter before the troops guarding the palace.

"Yes," they replied. "We receive a bottle of wine every day from the czar's cellars. We are only following an ancient custom—but if we are being criticized for it by the soldiers of the 12th army, we will discontinue the practice."

Wherefore, in solemn assembly, they voted to abolish a pleasant and therefore somewhat lingering custom of Tsarkoe Selo.

People in Russia vote at the drop of the hat—on any subject.

The third impression I received as an American, was a sense of bewilderment at the problem of getting this voting translated into laws.

The voting is not vague and unsystematic. Spontaneously a system has grown up out of the old organizations whereby national organizations of all sorts are developing.

A few washerwomen, for instance, or a few farmers in some extremely remot district hold a meeting and elect a delegate to a meeting of washerwomen or farmers in some nearby town. This larger meeting, in turn, elects a delegate to a convention in a still larger center and finally, delegates are chosen to represent a still larger district in the main organization which is being formed here at the capital. There is a bewildering number of such organizations, with an uncountable number of repetitions.

A man, for instance, may be a member of a soldier's organization; he may also belong to an organization of his craft and, in addition, he may vote in an organization of Ukranians, or Letts or Poles. There is no limit to the number of places in which he may express his opinion and have his votes counted.

How the government, out of all the mass of public opinion—and there's never been so much public opinion anywhere in the world as there is in Russian now—will be able to sift the preponderating causes is a bewildering problem, but it is one that the new government is determined to solve.

WILSON CALLING FOR RECRUITS THIS WEEK

Makes Appeal For 70,000 Men To Fill Ranks of the Army And National Guard

FINE CHANCE FOR ABLE MEN

A great many men who are unmarried and have no intentions of taking unto themselves a life mate have been saying that they would await a call from the President before enlisting. Here it is. The commander in chief of the U. S. A. needs several thousand men to fill up the ranks in the regular army and in the National guard. He has designated this week as a recruiting week for the regular army and calls upon all men between the ages of eighteen and forty years to enlist. This is another chance to be a "went" instead of a "sent." In addition to this there is no doubt that a great many privileges await the regular army man that will not be granted to the conscripted man. When conscription is put into effect there will be so much bustle and activity that men will necessarily have to be handled in large numbers without any consideration of personalities.

Following is the President's call for 70,000 men for the regular army.

I hereby designate the period to June thirtieth, next, as recruiting week for the regular army and call upon unmarried men between the ages of eighteen and forty years, who have no dependants and who are not engaged in pursuits vitally necessary to the prosecution of the war, to present themselves for enlistment during the week herein designated to the number of seventy thousand.

WOODROW WILSON

June 15, 1917.

Clearfiel couny young men who desire to enter the army ahead of conscription can volunteer at the recruiting headquarters of Co. L, at the Court House. This will enable our young men to go out together and with a Pennsylvania organization.

All who enlist between now and June 30th will be credited to Clearfield county's quota. Be "went" boys before "sent" and join Co. L.

Enlistment Notes

Hayes Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Wilson of Sixth street, went over to Boalsburg, Saturday and enlisted in the Boal Machine Gun troop. Hayes is the fourth East End young man to enroll with Capt. Terry Boal.

Wesley W. Waple and George Tippery left on the 1:15 Pennsylvania train for New York City where they expect to enlist in the U. S. ambulance corps for service in France.

Ray Callahan, shipping clerk at the Harbison Walker brickyard who recently enlisted in the quartermaster's department of the U. S. army received his notice today to report at Syracuse, N. Y., for duty on Wednesday next.

DANCE THURSDAY NIGHT

On account of being unable to get their building in shape for tonight the Italian band postponed their dance until Thursday evening next.

The band has rented the Marino maccaroni factory, near the foot of Bigler avenue bill for a band room and dance hall but were unable to have the building remodeled in time for Monday evening's dance as had been advertised. The entire proceeds from this dance when held will be turned over to the local Red Cross fund.

ATTENDING STATE COLLEGE

Misses Emma McDowell, Lida Stage, Rhoda Weaver, Lucille McGee and Augusta Connelly left this morning for State College where they will take the Teacher's Training course the coming summer. Dorr Barto, another Clearfield teacher, will also take this course.

John McGraw says he gets twice as much salary for managing one team as President Tener receives for running the whole league. John merely wanted to show that he can afford to bust umpires on the beak and settle.

Flag Raising at Rock Farm Sunday Morning

Clearfield Military Company Assists In Pretty Ceremony

The flag raising at the Ord L. Norris farm in Pike township yesterday was a huge success in every sense of the word and the large crowd present enjoyed the occasion immensely.

The Junior military company which is camping at the Norris farm and Clearfield's Independent Military company participated in the flag raising exercises. The Independents went to Curwensville on the Saturday evening B. R. & P. train and hiked out to the farm and s...t the night in Mr. Norris' barn.

They returned home yesterday afternoon much pleased with their outing and the reception given them by Mr. and Mrs. Norris.

The flag was presented by Mrs. Ord L. Norris and was accepted on behalf of the military company by Captain Frederick L. Prosser. Prayer and a spirited patriotic address was made by Rev. J. Max Lantz, of Curwensville. The flag was raised by Clayton and Jack, sons of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Norris, of Clearfield.

The following were present from Clearfield: Mrs. S. Young, Anna M. Irwin, Mrs. W. P. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Leitzinger, Mary H. Leitzinger, John and A. E. Leitzinger, Jr., Mrs. M. E. Johnson, Helen H. Houston, Elva Walker, Mrs. James Evans, Mrs. A. P Walker, Mrs. John McCorkle, Miss Dorothy McCorkle, E. H. Shaw, George Kittleberger, Fred Lang, A. P. Walker, A. E. Fleck, W. E. Other out of town guests were Miss Clara Leonard, DuBois; W. J. Camper, Roanoke, Va.; and J. H. Hubbard, of Clymer, Pa.

McADOO PRAISES SACRIFICE OF NEWSPAPERS

The Liberty Loan campaign was essentially one of education, and without the generous and patriotic support of the press of the Nation the hope of those in charge that it would be a popular loan would not have been realized. The untiring efforts of the newspapers throughout the campaign was a constant inspiration to the various other groups of workers. At a time when news space was at a premium the Liberty Loan was featured at length.

Newspapers and magazines, in their news, editorial, and advertising columns, fought for the success of the loan every step of the way.

WILLIAM G. McADOO,
Secretary of the Treasury

RESIGNS POSITION AS MINE INSPECTOR

J. C Gatehouse, of Beccaria, who held the position of Mine Inspector, with headquarters at Johnstown, and who only a month ago was appointed to the position, resigned the job on account of his extensive coal business. The position required absence from home too considerably, as he is a large shipper of bituminous coal, and his attention was required at home to look after the prompt shipment of extensive orders.

The hearing on the petition of the Clearfield County Dry Federation for a revocation of all the wholesale liquor licenses in Clearfield county which it was expected would be heard this morning was continued by Judge Bell to Monday, July 2nd.

An excellent supper was served to sixty two guests and members.

Music for the dancers was furnished in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Binder of Madera, were in Clearfield on business today.

SUNDAY IS "FOOD SAVING DAY"

Our Food Dictator is getting on the job. The following letter to the editors of the nation explains his plans for laying the importance of food saving before all the people and that he is taking it up with all churches and newspapers means that his preachments are going to reach all the people in the nation. The Progress is unable to hear of any local arrangements for next Sunday but presume that all ministers will take some effort to assist in this great work.

"I write to ask your special co-operation in an important phase of the work of conserving food for ourselves and our Allies. The plan I now have in mind is designed primarily to reach the church people and the women, but with help of the press it can be made to cover the whole community.

Under date of June 18, there will be mailed to every minister whose name I can secure a personal letter over my signature asking him to preach upon the subject of Food Conservation on Sunday, July first. In the same letter, I shall express the hope that this day will become known as "Food Saving Day," and that it may be made the purpose and motto of every householder in America, to Save the Waste and Win the War.

May I have your assistance along the following lines; First, on Monday, June 25 (but not before) and on succeeding days, to announce in your paper the general plan for Food Saving Day, with whatever local arrangements for observing it may be decided upon, and to support it editorially.

Second, on Monday, July 2 (but not before) and on succeeding days, to carry in display type a motto "Save the Waste and Win the War," to print also notes or abstracts of sermons preached on July 1, and most important of all, to drive home the lessons of food conservation by your own editorial comment.

I should be especially grateful if your influence and that of your paper could be used to enlist civic, fraternal, patriotic, and other organizations in the effort to make Food Saving Day really effective in conserving the food supply for us and for our Allies, and in reducing the cost of living to our own people."

Yours faithfully,
HERBERT HOOVER

ENTERTAINS LITTLE FRIENDS

Miss Nathalia Orcutt entertained a number of her little friends Saturday afternoon in honor of her eleventh birthday by taking them to the Chief Theatre.

After the girls had seen the pictures which they all thought were about the best they had ever seen, their little hostess took them to McCarty's where they all enjoyed dainty refreshments, after which they all left for their homes, wishing Nathalia many more happy birthdays.

The party included Ruth Cross, Glenore Hays, Winifred Dowler, Margaret Shapiro, Audrey Hyde, Catherine Yeaney and Jane Wallace.

WOMAN'S CLUB PICNIC

The Woman's Club will hold their annual picnic Friday afternoon, June 29, at the Driving Park where supper will be served at six o'clock by the West Side Ladies' Aid Society. The following menu has been submitted for the sum of 65 cents; meat loaf, cold slaw, scalloped potatoes, bread and butter sandwiches, ice cream, cake and coffee. As it is necessary to know for how many to prepare everyone who expects to attend is asked to notify Mrs. E. E. Orcutt Mrs. H. Clark Thayer or Miss Isabel Powell not later than Wednesday noon. Get that canning impulse.

Make your hoe this summer keep your can opener busy next winter.

Get ready for canning season now. Regrets are the only things ever canned in the jars you forgot to order.

See that the shelves in your preserving closet sag just a little this year.

Weeding will seem easy next winter when mother serves those home canned string beans.

NO "WOODIES"

There has been and there still is some discussion as to what we should term our soldiers in France by way of affectionate nickname. Something like the English "Tommy" is sought, and "Sammies," and "Teddies" have been nominated. No one has yet risen to suggest in seriousness that they should be called "Woodies." They are not too proud to fight, you see.

NIPPONESE SOY OIL

A dispatch from Seattle, Wash., announces the departure from that city of 40 tank cars each containing 8000 gallons of soy bean oil, consigned to Ivorydale, Ohio, to be used in soap making. The oil was imported by Mitsui & Co., Japanese importers of Seattle, and a subsidiary of Mitsui & Co., of Tokio, Japan. Soy beans and soy bean oil are on the free list of the present tariff law.

With a protective rate on the beans and the oil, the growing of the former would be encouraged in this country and the southern cotton-seed oil mills would have plenty of work to do during an otherwise dull period. A protective rate on the oil would insure a good home market for these mills, and a product whose possibilities are being appreciated would be "Made in America."

TOO MUCH TALK

There may be two sides to the controversy betweeen Gen. Goethals and the men whom Chairman Denman chose to work on the plan for a merchant fleet. But the public will see only one side of it. They know Goethals. They do not know Eustis and Clark—and they are only just coming to know Denman. Goethals is a man who does things. Denman and Eustis and Clark are men who evidently prefer to talk about doing things. There are too many like them in places of responsibility at Washington already. The administration cannot afford to have this issue accentuated. There is a growing belief in the country now that things are not as they should be in Washington. The Goethals incident will strengthen this opinion.

LET EVERYONE KICK IN

Representative Aaron S. Kreider, of Pennsylvania, believes that every man in the country should pay an income tax proportioned to his circumstances so that each may realize that he is helping support the Government in the prosecution of the war, and thereby to awaken his patriotism. "I would indicate to every man," declares Mr. Kreider, "Whether he is handling a pick and shovel or is president of a bank, that he is considered by this Congress an American citizen." It is not so much the amount that the poorer classes will contribute, but the feeling that it will engender with them that the Government is depending upon their assistance. Congressman Kreider contends that the result would be the wiping out of classes and the welding together of the interests of all the people, which we must have if we are going to win the war.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

KARL KATZ WOKE UP

[Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales.]

THE children were so eager for their story that they clapped and clapped for daddy to begin. "When Karl Katz woke up after he had fallen fast asleep in a dwarf's cave he found himself in a different spot from the one he had fallen to sleep in.

"It is very hard work, back aching, in fact, to pick up nine pins when twelve dwarfs knock them down. And it is no wonder that Karl Katz had slept fast and hard. When he called his dog and it did not answer he looked around for the doorway through which he had gone to follow his pet goat.

"Much to his surprise, he could find no trace of the door in the old walls of the tumble down castle where he had herded his goats. There stood the wall, but without chink or crack big enough to let a rat through. Again Karl Katz paused and scratched his head. His hat was full of holes! 'That was a new hat last Easter time!' he exclaimed.

"By chance his eyes fell on his boots, which were almost new when he had left home to herd his flock. Now they looked old, as if they were likely to fall to pieces if he walked far in them. In fact, all his clothes seemed to be in a shabby state.

"The more Karl looked around and pondered what had happened the more astonished he became. He could not make out what had happened!"

"What had?" asked Evelyn.

"It was so funny trying to understand what had happened that he decided to leave the old castle yard and go out to find his flock. Slowly and much out of the mood he wound his way among the mountain steeps, through paths where his flocks were accustomed to feed. He found the same old paths, but not a goat was in sight! Again Karl stopped and whistled and called his dog. But no dog answered. Where was his faithful helper who used to run up joyfully and bark with glee at driving the flock?

"Below him in the valley lay the village where his home was. So after waiting for his flock for hours Karl at last took a downyard path and with a heavy heart and faltering step set out in search of his goats. 'Surely,' he kept saying over and over again to himself, 'I shall meet some neighbor soon who will be able to tell me where to find my flock.'

"But stranger and stranger, all the folks he met on his way to the village were all unknown to Karl Katz," daddy finished.

"He was just like Rip Van Winkle, wasn't he, daddy?" cried Jack.

And daddy smiled and sent him off to bed.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder bothers

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night; when you have sever headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a deilghtful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

Greece has a total area about equal to that of the State of West Virginia.

THAT MEN MIGHT LIVE

We give our money freely
To slay, since we must slay.
Shall we not give that men may live
To greet the better day?
Lo! there are hands not steely
That mend the broken clay.

We spend for deeds of choler;
For killing lord or clerk.
With ne'er an end our gold we spend
To spread the powder-murk.
Shall not the golden dollar
Go crown sweet Mercy's work?

We send a million rifles,
And oh! they find their slain!
Shall we not show a gorid aglow
That Christ is more than Cain,
And Mercy's hand still stifles
The soldier's cry of pain?

We make the cannon shipment,
New fields of fire to ope.
We speed the flame, the swords that maim,
The shells that sow the slope.
Why not the white equipment
That bears the Cross of Hope?

In all our ammunition
There lies the groan and curse.
But now shall go, since God wills so,
The ambulance, not hearse;
The succoring physician;
The gentle-fingered nurse.

Your share of cost of slaughter
You, as a patriot, give.
You're paying high that men may die
And Love be fugitive.
Come! Send across the water
The ones who bid men live!

Mr. A. M. Graham, Daisy Street, Clearfield, Tells of His Experience With Goldine

This well known and popular man tells of an experience he had with Goldine, this new treatment now being introduced here. He says: "For over five years I suffered from catarrh of the head and throat, and was very nervous. I could not sleep at night and would often get up and then go back again. I tried a good many things and made every effort to get relief but nothing did me any good. I heard of Goldine and was induced to try it. I started in to use it and was entirely relieved of my catarrh. I have had not further trouble from catarrh or my head or throat since. It did me great good and I gladly recommend it to any one who is in need of a good medicine for catarrh and nerves."

THE GOLDINE MAN

This testimonial proves beyond a doubt that Goldine is a remarkable remedy for catarrh.

"Goldine, the Marvel Medicine," is made from roots, herbs, barks and berries and is as pure as nature and scientific chemistry can make it. The testimonials we publish are from your own townspeople, people that are trustworthy and whose word you know is good. Such statements should be enough for anyone. The Goldine Man will tell you honestly what Goldine has done for others, with troubles similar to yours. They do no diagnose, prescribe or advise but they tell you the nature of the Goldine Remedies, what they have done and are doing and then you can judge for yourself about trying them. Five minutes of your time will be well spent in calling and talking with these men and you will receive courteous treatment and kindly interest.

"The New York Central track is really perfect"—JOSEPH CARLIER,

Assistant Professor of Railways, Liege University, Belgium.

Professor Carlier was recently in this country making an official study of American railways as a model for Belgium.

In an interview in the New York Times he made the statements reproduced herewith concerning the New York Central Lines.

But a railroad, however perfect to-day, will be inadequate to perform its functions to-morrow without constant heavy expenditures of new capital.

Rising prices for fuel, labor, materials and equipment make it imperative that the public and governmental authorities afford fair treatment, and permit compensating rates, in order that it may maintain that stability of credit which is necessary to attract new capital in competition with world-wide international borrowing.

"My trip on the New York Central was made in a splendid new electric locomotive of 2,000 horse power. I have visited many railroad shops in England and have seen many electrifications. I found the working of the New York Central electrification really wonderful. The stability of the locomotive, the working of the engine—I was quite surprised. It was really splendid. I cannot say too much for the motion, in a word, I did not feel any disturbance which would indicate a fault in the track or a wrong conception in the locomotive. The maintenance of the track for the section traveled by me is really perfect, as compared with similar tracks on European railroads. It is not necessary to speak of the terminal. It is a work of genius. It is the only work in the world of its kind. Every one knows that. Is it not so?"

Letters to the Editor

Manhattan, Kansas
Jnue 21, 1917

Editor of Progress
Clearfield, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I thought a few lines from me might be of interest to your readers. We arrived at Manhattan, in the Sunflower state early Saturday morning, June 16th. Found the weather fine and crops looking splendid.

On Tuesday we visited Ft. Riley, Kansas, where the national government has a reservation of 21,000 acres. Ft. Riley is the geographical center of the United States and has a tower marking it as such.

There are now about 5,000 troops here in training and an army of men putting the reservation in shape for the training and housing of 100,000 soldiers and 30,000 horses which are expected to be here before September. There is wonderful activity about the camp. Long rows of wooden buildings are going up as by magic, as well as hundreds of canvass tents. It is a very inspiring sight to one who is not accustomed to army life.

Yesterday I went over to Topeka to visit my old friend Frank Smith and family, and was entertained royally. They live in a beautiful section of the city, and from all appearances are making good. Mr. Smith took up out in his car; over the district recently visited by that terrible cyclone. This is the third cyclone district I have been permitted to see in a few days and neither tongue nor pen can describe the destruction of the forces of nature by these storms. I can simply say that like the wonders of King Solomon, the half cannot be told, but must be seen to be realized. I receive The Progress daily which is like getting a letter from home, for which I wish to return my thanks.

Yours truly,
PETER GEARHART

P. S. I don't want to miss my right to the Red Cross fund and if The Progress will report $5.00 for me I will give check when I get home.

DECORATED BUT CAN'T TELL WHY

London, June 10—By Mail—Commander Gordon Campbell, mysterious hero of the British navy, leaped 700 junior naval officers in promotion, because a member of the Distinguished Service Order and was decorated with the Victoria Cross in less than a year and a half. Yet, with a storm raging around his secret career, he is bound by naval ethics not to tell publicly how he won either his promotion or the high honors bestowed by King George.

Curiosity started mildly, but when Campbell and the Admiralty remained silent, the demand for information reached the proportion of a public uproar. Campbell is not criticized, exactly; the public really wants a chance to sing his praises. The music is ready but English hero worshippers refuse to sing a song without words, which makes the present demonstration a clamor instead of a popular laudation.

A high official of the admiralty today assured the United States that Campbell's achievements and bravery during the war deserve every ray of honor turned upon him. When the war is over the people may know what he did and how he did it, but for the time being his deeds must remain behind the veil.

Just recently his name appeared in the court circular as the recipient of the Victoria Cross, highest of all honors for sheer bravery, so Campbell must have found something more exciting than the command of the Bittern.

The Dodgers have everything in the way of a 1916 championship team, and no reason why they shouldn't repeat once they get to the top and stick there.

Baker and Pipp of the Yankees are sweet home-run getters, but the fans don't believe it unless they smash out a circuit drive every time they come to bat.

Perhaps the white sox traveling uniforms, of brownish gray with black stripes, are responsible for the Rowland's success. One flash at the togs and the opposition loses heart for pastiming.

President William T Noonan of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Railway, has issued a letter to all officers and employees advising the most the results of the campaign for subscriptions to the Liberty Loan on that road and expressing his appreciation of their response.

Three thousand three hundred and ninety subscriptions, totaling $375,650 were received from the officers and employees advising them of the ter & Pittsburg Railway in all branches of the service.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

GOVERNMENT WILL COMMANDEER OIL AND COAL

Washington, June 23.—Declaring that it is a "question of a very short time until the government is compelled to commandeer the oil and coal in the country," Secretary Daniels today told the Senate Public Lands committee that the oil situation is critical. Daniels said that if no commandeering negotiations be entered into at once the fuel supply must re regulated and the government must fix prices for the oil and coal.

WOULD FIGHT AGAINST HIS FATHERLAND

Detroit, June 25.—Johann Wilhelm, nephew of the Kaiser, would take up the gun against Germany—if the age limit of selective service were raised to include him.

Count von Hohenzollern is his title. He was born in Detroit and has been here for the last seven years.

The count's identity was disclosed when he applied to Marshall Behrondt for permission to enter districts restricted to Germans.

While he spent the greater part of his forty-seven years in Germany Johann was born here while his parents were touring the United States. His father is a brother of Bill Hohenzollern.

It might be possible to knock him out wtih a pop bottle or a stick of dynamite, but it's a good bet that the pastimer who slams Umpire Billy Evans in the mush will have started something awful.

The Browns have had more hitters among the first dozen batsmen than any other American league team, but it hasn't helped the Jones' to break into real society.

If the Tigers can continue to produce the same brand of ball at home that they have furnished on the road, the Detroit crowd is going to prove troublesome before the end of the big show.

PLEASURE CAR MOTOR SETS NEW RECORDS

Haynes Light Twelve Engine Which Won 100 Mile Chicago Classic was Taken from Branch Managers' Car

Chicago, Jnue 23—The Haynes "Light Twelve" which set the new amateur record for 100 miles at the Chicago auto derby Saturday, June 16, and made a new non-stop record, had under its hood the engine which H. E. Doty, Chicago branch manager for the Haynes, has been using in his pleasure car the past winter.

Mr. Doty never expected his engine to win such signal fame. It has the reguarl stock valves and stock displacement. He had driven it over 3,000 miles for personal pleasure. Not having time, prior to the race, to limber up the engine sent from the factory, it was at the last moment decided to use Mr. Doty's stock engine instead.

HAVE YOU SEEN LOTTA? LOTTA WHO?

PAIGE
The Most Beautiful Car in America

Paige Prices Will Be Advanced on July 15

On July 15th the list price of every car in the Paige line will be very substantially increased—with no change whatsoever in our models.

In order to maintain the well-known standards of Paige quality, such a step is uavoidable. The market quotations of all raw materials, accessories and labor have steadily advanced—some commodities to the extent of 300 per cent.

Inasmuch as we insist upon using only the best of materials, we are left with but one alternative—an increased list price to absorb increased manufacturing cost.

As a matter of economic fact, the price of our cars should have been advanced several months ago. We have chosen to delay this action, however, until the last possible moment.

But even though Paige prices are to be substantially increased, you can rest assured that our cars will continue to offer more actual dollar for dollar value than any other cars on the American market. From a purely comparative standpoint Paige cars have always been under-priced—and they will remain so no matter how far the commodity prices may advance.

Owing to the scarcity of materials, our production between now and July 15th will necessarily be limited. We have apportioned this production to Paige dealers throughout the country, and they will accept orders until their individual allotments are exhausted.

As a last thought in regard to this matter of price, please remember that the Paige has long since demonstrated its independence of all "price fields." American men and women now buy a Paige—not because of the price tag which is attached to it—but because of its well established reputation as a fine mechanical product.

On this basis the Paige will always represent a preferred investment. Its actual cost in dollars and cents will always be an important, but an altogether secondary, consideration.

MUSHROOM TIPS

(By United Press)

Washington, June 25.—Inexpert persons who insist on collecting "mushrooms" and afterward die of regret—and poison—on learning they picked the poisonous kind are warned by the department of agriculture that there is no simple test for distinguishing the eatable from the other.

For example, the common belief that any mushroom may be eaten with safety if the skin can be peeled readily from the cap is unfounded. The same peeling is possible with many poisonous species.

The presence of insects on mushrooms, too, is no proof that they are safe for human consumption. The common belief that if mushrooms are soaked or boiled in salt water they will do no harm, also is a dangerous and unfounded supposition.

After all, that miracle stuff seems to have been just another Boston fad and now thrown into the discard after a short lived popularity.

LEMONS BRING OUT THE HIDDEN BEAUTY

Make this lotion for very little cost and just see for yourself.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one generally pays for a small par of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.

Yeggmen Blow Safe At Grampian Station

Got Away With $60 In Money And Other Property

A gang of yeggmen descended on the village of Grampian last evening and after robbing several barns and outbuildings of blankets and other wearing apparel visited the Pennsylvania passenger station and blowing open the safe escaped with some $60 in cash.

The safe-blowers were evidently experts in their line and made a clean get away of their job making not a single sound to disturb the slumbers of the bucolic citizens of that quiet little village.

Turic Remanded To Jail For Sept. Court

Refused to Tell Complete Story Of Alleged Treasonable Talk

Gust Turic, the young man who was arrested at Winburne a few days ago for defaming by word of mouth the President of the United States, the flag and the nation in general was before the court this morning for a hearing. The young man is of German parentage but was born in this country. He was given an excellent chance to prove himself worthy of clemency but either thought he could bunco the court or desired to remain a true blue son of the Kaiser.

Before hearing his part of the story the District Attorney expressed the belief that the young man had simply fell a victim to his temper under the goad of taunts and said he believed he should be given a chance to prove himself a good citizen. The court however, preferred to be further enlightened and requested Turic to tell his side of the story, repeatedly asking that he give in detail just what conversation took place at the time he is alleged to hav emade the seditious remarks. Turic fenced at every question, denied having said practically everything attributed to him and finally the court very properly remanded him to the county jail to await trial at the September term of court.

The court very emphatically laid down his opinion on a man's duty at this time. Turic admitted that neither he nor any member of his large immediate family had bought a Liberty bond, that they had given nothing to the Red Cross and done no other thing to advance the interest of the United States in the present conflict. He said that he would bear arms and fight if compelled to do so but not before. At this point the court interjected with the statement that this was not enough; that a man's duty was to do all he could willingly and without compulsion or attendant with treasonable talk.

Worthy of note is the statement that Turic had some whiskey to drink before the alleged conversation took place. Those who long have argued that liquor plays its part in seditious and treasonable talk will be quick to see it in this case. While it is not thought that Turic had been drinking enough to make him irresponsible, the very fact that he had been drinking a little will serve to cloud the issue in the minds of many people. Some may argue that his drinking has nothing to do with the case at all but the fact that the question was put to him at the hearing indicates that it is a consideration.

Mammoth Wyoming Dam Gives 'Way

Five Small Towns And Thousands Of Crop Acres Are Menaced

Salt Lake City, June 26.—The dam in the Mammoth Reservoir, 12 miles west of Fairview, Utah has given way under strain of the 11,000 feet of water which is flooding the valley below, according to reports received by officials of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad Company here.

Five small towns as well as one branch of the Rio Grande railroad, the out let of the Carbon coal fields, are menaced. Several additional valley farms irrigated by the Price River Irrigation Company are in danger of inundation with incalculable damage to the crops. Telephone warnings to the residents will save a great many people in the danger zone.

CATCHER JIM ARCHER TAKES THROW ON THE FINGER TIPS

Veteran of Chicago Cubs Has Method of Saving Hand Different From Most Backstops.

With a catcher the most important thing is to keep his hands in condition. Since the backstop handles nearly every ball that is thrown and the ball that he has to receive is thrown with more speed than to any other player, the constant pounding in the center of the big mitt is not by any means inconsiderable.

At the center, where the ball lands there is but little padding and the hand is likely to be put out of commission in a short time unless more than ordinary care is taken of it. In the big show the methods are many, but Jimmy Archer, catcher of the Chicago Nationals, seems to have them all beaten.

In the springtime most catchers are troubled with stone bruises on their receiving hands because of the tenderness of the flesh after a winter of idleness. Archer, when he began catching, found a scheme to avoid bruises of that nature, but never revealed his method to his teammates because he thought they had systems of their own. Not long ago, however, he acquired a stone bruise, and it is the first one he has had in years, and it was due mostly to an accident.

Jim Archer.

While watching batting practice he was hit on the fingers with a foul tip. To avoid hurting his digits more he stuck his hand deep into his mitt and caught the ball in the palm of his hand. This was contrary to his method.

As he has only an extremely thin padding on his glove the bruise resulted.

When his hand is well he does not insert it into the mitt more than half way and catches the ball practically on his finger tips, thus avoids possibility of getting a stone bruise, which is a source of much annoyance to catchers.

Other catchers have their own methods to avoid a contusion on the right hand from the constant impact of the ball into the glove. At the opening of the spring training period some catchers have large pieces of raw beefsteak which they place in the palms of their hands for a week or more and their skin becomes hardened and is able to stand the force of the globule. Some use a small cork pad, and others pieces of chamois, and many keep them in use all summer long.

Poultry Pointers.

Keep the chicks busy.

Make the fowls hustle.

Check the first symptoms of a cold.

Old lime mortar is good for poultry and pigeons.

Variety of foods sharpen the appetite of fowls.

It never pays to feed wet or sloppy foods to your fowls or chicks.

Too much or too little food at a time is to be avoided.

A little perseverance along the lines of feeding poultry will help the digestion in the end.

Cull out every fowl for which you have no use.

Remember that regularity and persistence in caring for your fowls is a principal feature of success.

Table scraps and kitchen waste are excellent foods for all kinds of poultry.

Always have a pan, or a clean, dry board to throw soft food on for the chickens, as it saves waste and is more healthful to the fowls.

The management of growing chicks is an art pure and simple—and it is a matter of regret that all poultry raisers are not artists in this line.

Cost of Dyes Before the War.

The dyes used on this side of the water cost the consumers between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 in normal times This sum, says the Engineering Magazine, does not measure the total value of the industry, because in addition to the dyes produced there are many drugs and chemicals obtained as by-products of the manufacture which swell the total to probably $50,000,000 annually.

Clark Griffith recently confessed that he originated the emory ball during his pitching days, some twenty years ago Little by little the past life of the Old Fox is coming to light

As no U-boats have been discovered in the Naumee river, it must have been a flock of A. A. tanks that struck Roger Bresnahan's Toledo Hens.

Old Memories.

A quaint little pathway that twisted and turned
And passed from our sight at the mill,
Then wandered away where the wild flowers burned
Their gold in the slope of the hill.
How silent it led, with the alders above,
Till splashed by the sun streaming through,
It ended its way on the threshold of love,
Of an old fashioned cottage we knew.

Each flower that bloomed 'round the lattice way there
Came down from the gardens above—
Each new opened blossom gave out on the air
Fresh tokens of tenderest love—
Each sigh in the trees of the breeze passing through,
Each call of a bird for its mate.
Befitted this old-fashioned cottage we knew
And the old-fashioned folk at the gate.

The gourd at the wall, the bucket and sweep,
The something that whispered of home.
The warmth of the welcome they treasure and keep
To greet a son given to roam;
Aye, each little thing, each joy and care
That passes in distant review;
May we find the old-fashioned cottages there
And the old-fashioned couples we knew.
—John D. Wells, in Buffalo Evening News.

Mother's Cook Book

Reduce the cost of living by utilizing all leftovers and having meatless dinners at least three times a week.

Summer Dishes.

Delicious as the cucumber is to the palate it has little nourishment. Its value lies in its mineral salts, cellulose and the cooling properties of its water content. The salad dressing or sauce with which the vegetable is served does make it a nourishing dish. The bitter principle even when not pronounced is especially good for the complexion taken inside or out. Cucumbers peeled and cut in half lengthwise are boiled and served with butter as a vegetable. After being parboiled they may be dipped in egg and crumbs and fried. They are also well liked as fritters and stewed with a cream sauce is another favorite method.

Cucumber Sauce for Fish.

The favorite method of serving cucumbers is to keep the delicate crispness which is so refreshing on a hot day. Cucumber chopped fine and mixed with half as much chopped onion, seasoned well with salt, pepper and vinegar, makes a fine sauce to serve with fish.

Tomato Ice.

Take the pulp and juice of a quart of tomatoes, rubbed through a sieve to remove the skin and seeds, add the juice of three lemons, sugar to sweeten and a cupful of finely chopped candied ginger. Add a quart of boiled water and a half-cupful of chopped maraschino cherries, and freeze.

Hot Stuffed Tomatoes.

Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add a half-cupful of bread crumbs and enough stock to moisten the bread. Stir over the fire until a paste is formed, then add three tablespoonfuls of chopped chicken, a tablespoonful of chopped ham, grated onion, celery salt and pepper to taste. Cut round pieces from the tops of firm, even-sized tomatoes, remove the centers and turn on a plate to drain. Fill with the mixture and put into a buttered pan to bake. A few minutes before taking from the oven cover each with a little white of egg beaten stiff, then when brown, serve at once.

Cheese and Olives.

Beat two tablespoonfuls of sweet cream into one cream cheese or the equivalent of cottage cheese, add salt and paprika to make it pink and a tablespoonful of chopped chives. Roll and chill and serve on head lettuce or cress with French dressing.

How Many Deaf Mutes "Hear" And Are Thrilled by Music

Deaf mutes love music. It thrills them. They feel it by placing their hands and elbows on a piano while the teacher plays it. The vibrations not only give sensations which enliven the body, but they actually stimulate them. The parts most sensitive to vibrations are the chest, head, lungs and feet. "An exciting feeling comes up through the floor," is the way one deaf boy describes it, according to the Popular Science Monthly. "Without music I would be lonesome," wrote a little Italian deaf mute. "It gives me a strong shock through the feet to the head," stated another. Others when asked to explain their sensations, said: "I feel it in my temples and in my legs," "I feel it through my body," and "I feel it in my chest and lungs."

According to teachers of deaf mutes, musical instruction is more important as an educational factor for the deaf child than it is for the hearing.

Truthful Letter-Writing.

John Bright showed a strict regard for accuracy when he ended a controversial letter "I am, sir, with whatever respect is due to you." On the other hand the admiralty used to make a habitual display of insincerity, all letters from the lords commissioners to naval officers—even letters of reproof—being signed "Your affectionate friends." This practice was discontinued in consequence of a naval captain signing one of his letters to the board of admiralty "Your affectionate friend." He was asked to discontinue this practice, so when writing again he concluded, "I am, my lords, no longer your affectionate friend." — London Chronicle.

Probably the Prettiest Wash Goods You Can Buy Are These Ginghams at 25c the Yard

The prettiest of cotton dresses in Clearfield this Summer will be of these very ginghams. The ginghams are very good qualities, combining sheerness and strength. The designs—dainty and neat checks, stripes and novelty ideas. White linen is becoming extremely popular for trimming cotton dresses; so you see how easily and cheaply a dress can be made at home when the gingham costs only 25c a yard.

Other pretty ginghams at 12½c to 35c.
